goodwordbooks.com
This course has been designed to present the young students a comprehensive Islamic education, comprising general Islamic knowledge based on the Quran and Hadith. Instead of teaching moral principles directly, they are taught through themes chosen from the Quran and other Islamic sources. Though basically intended for use as a school textbook, it is also an ideal tool for home schooling involving both the parents and children. In this way children will not only learn the ethical values conveyed by the message of Islam but will also be stimulated to want to know more about Islamic teachings when they grow up.

Chapter 1  Faith and Belief in Islam

What is Iman?

We know we are Muslims and that our religion is Islam. But what is it that makes us Muslims? What does the religion Islam mean? Let us find out.

Allah says in the Quran: ‘I have chosen for you Islam as your religion.’ (Surah al-Ma’idah, 5:3)

A Muslim is not known only by his name or face. He is known by his iman (faith and belief) and aqeedah. Aqeedah is the creed of Islam. The word ‘creed’ means a statement of belief.

All Muslims have a common belief which is known as iman mufassal or the complete faith. The statement of iman mufassal is as follows:

\text{أُمِّيْثُ بِاللّهِ وَمَلائِكَتِهِ وَكُتُبِهِ وَرَسُولِهِ وَالْيَوْمِ الْآخَرِ وَالْقَدْرِ خِيْرٌ وَشَرٌّ مِّنَ اللّهِ تَعَالَى وَالْيَوْمِ بَعْدَ الْمَوْتَ}

Amantu billahi wa malaikatihi wa kutubih\i wa rusulihi wal-yawmil-akhiri\i wal-quadri khayrihi wa sharihi min-Allahi ta’ala\i wal-ba’thi ba’dal-mawt.

This means:

I believe in Allah, and His angels, and His scriptures, and His Prophets, and the Last Day, and in Allah’s Power over everything good and evil, and in Life after Death.
The word iman stands for faith. A Muslim puts his faith or believes in the following things, which are known as the ‘articles of faith’:

1. Belief in the Oneness of Allah (at-Tawhid)
2. Belief in the Angels (al-Malaikah)
3. Belief in the Scriptures of Allah (Kutub-Allah)
4. Belief in the Prophets of Allah (Rasul-Allah)
5. Belief in the Last Day (Yawm al-Qiyamah)
6. Belief in the Life after Death (al-Akhirah)

Let us learn more about these six beliefs.

Belief in the Oneness of Allah (at-Tawhid)

Allah is the Creator of all things. He is the only object of worship and nothing else and no one else deserves to be worshipped. Muslims believe in the oneness of Allah, such as, He was not born, He does not give birth, He has no wife, children, or father or mother or any type of partner. This oneness of Allah is termed at-Tawhid.
Belief in the Angels (al-Malaikah)

While creating everything in the universe, Allah also created the angels from divine light or nur. Angels glorify, serve and worship Allah. They are not visible to the human eye but they can take different forms and shapes to become visible. Do you know:

- that it was the angel Jibril (Gabriel) who revealed the Quran to the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ?
- that Izrail is the angel of death who gives believers the good news about jannah or paradise?
- that the angels Kiraman Katibin accompany us all the time and write down whatever good and bad we do?
- that the angels Munkar and Nakir question the dead in the grave?

Belief in the Books of Allah (Kutub-Allah)

Though we human beings sometimes become unmindful of Allah, Allah is always looking after us. From time to time when we start to forget Allah and do things which are hateful in His sight, Allah sends us His prophets with His message. Sometimes, this message is collected in the form of a scripture. A scripture is a holy book which contains Allah’s message and guidance. The Quran is the Holy Scripture of Islam. The Books revealed previous to the Quran like, the Injil and the Tawrat are also revealed Books.
Belief in the Prophets of Allah (Rasul-Allah)

We have seen before that Allah sends His prophets to guide humankind to the right path. The prophets are human beings like us but are specially chosen by Allah to preach His message. Believing in all the prophets is essential for a Muslim. The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ is the prophet of Islam. And he was Allah’s last messenger who was sent for all humanity.

Belief in the Last Day (Yawm al-Qiyamah)

One day Allah will bring to an end all that He has created. This day is known as the Last Day, or Yawm al-Akhir. Then He will recreate us all, and gather us to judge the actions we have done in this world. He will reward the doers of good and punish the wrongdoers. This is the Day of Standing or Yawm al-Qiyamah, when all human beings will stand up to be judged. Both Yawm al-Akhir and Yawm al-Qiyamah are commonly known as the Last Day.

On the Last Day the mountains will crumble to dust and the skies and the sun and the moon will come to an end. All creatures in the universe will die. This Last Day is sure to come. The Last Day is an essential part of Islamic belief.

Belief in the Life After Death (al-Akhirah)

We read above about the Last Day when everything will come to an end. After that Allah will again give life to all human beings. All of us will be presented before Allah on that day and judged for our actions in the present world. Those whose actions are good will be rewarded with the Gardens of Paradise (Jannah). All evil-doers will be punished in the fire of Hell (Jahannam). All the dwellers of Paradise and Hell will have an eternal life. This Life after Death in which all Muslims believe, is a part of Islamic belief.

Religious Duties in Islam

The Pillars of Islam

There are five religious duties which a Muslim must fulfil. These religious duties are:

1. Shahadah
2. Salah
3. Zakah
4. Sawm
5. Hajj

These five religious duties are known as arkan al-Islam or the ‘pillars of Islam.’ Let us learn what these five pillars are.

Shahadah

Shahadah is an Arabic word. It means bearing witness. All Muslims bear witness to the following:

أَسْتَعِينُ أَنْ لَا إِلَهَ إِلَّا اللَّهُ وَأَسْتَعِينُ أَنْ مُحَمَّدًا رَسُولُ اللَّهِ
(Ashhadu an la ilaha illallahu wa ashadu anna Muhammadar-rasulullah.)

This means: ‘I bear witness that there is no god but Allah and I bear witness that Muhammad is the Messenger of Allah.’

Without bearing witness to the Oneness of Allah and without accepting the Prophet Muhammad  as the Messenger of Allah, one cannot be considered a Muslim. This is the first and most compulsory duty of a Muslim.
Salah (Prayer)

The salah is made obligatory for the believers, to be offered at fixed times. (Surah an-Nisa, 4:103)

The Arabic term salah means prayer. Believers are required to perform salah five times everyday. Allah Himself revealed this to the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, when the Prophet was brought into His presence during al-Miraj (Ascension). In fact, Allah wanted us to pray fifty times a day, but on the request of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, this was reduced to five times. The five daily prayers are as follows:

- Fajr (the morning prayer)
- Zuhr (the noon prayer)
- Asr (the late afternoon prayer)
- Maghrib (the evening prayer)
- Isha (the night prayer)

Timings of Daily Prayers
On Fridays, the zuhr prayer is replaced by the jumuah prayer. These are the compulsory prayers which every Muslim should perform at the appointed times.

Zakah (Charity)

This is the act of spending a certain portion of one's wealth for poor and needy. This is obligatory for every Muslim who possesses the means to pay zakah. All Muslims are not liable to pay zakah. There is an amount of wealth fixed by the Islamic Law, on which, a Muslim possessing this amount is liable to pay zakah. Zakah is a system that along with the spiritual gain uplifts poor and needy and brings about a balanced economy in society.

Sawm (Fasting)

This means fasting. Fasting in the month of Ramadan is compulsory for all adult Muslims. Those who are sick or on a journey, are exempted from it. But on achieving health or completion of the journey, the missed fasts must be made up. During the fast Muslims are required to abstain from all kind of food and drink from early morning to sunset. Fasting is an obligatory part of ibadah or worship.
Hajj (Pilgrimage)

The Arabic word hajj means pilgrimage or a religious journey to the Kabah in Makkah in the month of Dhu’l-Hijjah. All Muslims who have the means to make the journey and whose health allows them to undertake it, are compulsorily required to undertake the hajj at least once in their lifetime. During the hajj, Muslims perform a series of religious rites set by the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

The five religious duties are compulsory for all Muslims. In all circumstances Muslims are bound to discharge these duties. Whoever fails in this will incur Allah’s wrath and will be punished by Allah.

In Grade-2 we learned how to offer salah (prayers). Let us learn a little more about the categories of salah. Prayers are divided into four prime categories, namely:

- Fard prayer
- Wajib prayer
- Sunnah prayer
- Nafl prayer

Fard prayer

Fard means obligatory. This means that fard prayers are compulsory for Muslims. The fard prayers are commanded by Allah. If a fard prayer is missed for some reason, it should be made up later. The reward for praying in congregation is more than for praying alone. But the spirit that is more important is khushu (humility) and khudu (submission). It means the more effective prayers are those in which the person prays with humility and submission.

Wajib prayer

This is also an obligatory prayer but of lesser importance than the fard prayer. The witr prayer offered during the isha prayer is a wajib prayer.
Sunnah prayer

Though not commanded by Allah, the sunnah prayers are offered by Muslims because it was the practice of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

Nafl prayer

Nafl prayers are optional, or voluntary prayers which one can offer depending on one’s will.

We learned above about fard, wajib, sunnah and nafl prayers. Each of the five daily prayers contain fard prayers. Besides, they also contain additional sunnah, wajib, and nafl prayers. The following table will help you know the number of each type of prayers offered at different times.

We learned in Chapter 1 about the articles of iman (faith). Believing in the Scriptures of Allah is one of the six Muslim beliefs. What is the Scripture of Allah? Let us learn something about it.

![Image of an open book]

We have already seen that Allah sends His prophets to the people from time to time. Whenever humankind have gone astray, the prophets have come to guide them in the right way which Allah wants them to follow. Many of the prophets preached to their people after receiving Allah’s message in a dictated form. These include the Prophets Nuh ﷺ and Salih ﷺ. However, to some prophets, Allah has given His message in the form of books or oral texts later compiled in the written form. These books contain the revelations (wahi) of Allah. Here are the revealed scriptures of Allah:
| The Suhuf (Scrolls) | revealed to the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ |
| The Tawrat (Torah) | revealed to the Prophet Musa ﷺ |
| The Zabur (Psalms) | revealed to the Prophet Dawud ﷺ |
| The Injil (Gospel) | revealed to the Prophet Isa ﷺ |
| The Quran | revealed to the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ |

Thus we see that the Book received by the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ is the Quran.

The Quran was not written by any human being or by angels. It is Allah’s own words. These were revealed to the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ by the angel Jibril. These revelations lasted a period of twenty-three years from 610 CE to the death of the Prophet in 632 CE.

The Quran contains 114 chapters. Each chapter is called a surah. Every surah has a name like al-Fatihah, al-Baqarah, etc. Each surah contains some verses. These verses are known as ayah (plural: ayat).

The Quran is the final revelation of Allah. It is the only book from Allah which has not changed, that is, it remains in the same form as it was revealed to the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ.

The Holy Quran deserves our utmost respect. Before reading the Quran we purify ourselves by performing the wudu or ablution.

In Chapter 2 we have seen that Allah sends His prophets to us who preach to us His message. We have also read about the shahadah which states that ‘there is no god but Allah and Muhammad ﷺ is the Messenger of Allah’.

The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ is known as Rasulallah, which means Allah’s messenger. He is Allah’s last prophet and messenger to humankind.

The life of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ is known as sirah. It teaches us many good things. As such we should learn about his life.

We must remember to say ‘sallallahu alayhi wa sallam’ (ﷺ) whenever we utter or hear the name of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ. This means ‘may Allah’s blessings and peace be upon him.’

The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ was born in Makkah in the year
570 CE. It is known as the ‘Year of the Elephant.’ Do you know why? Read the story in the box to find out.

The Year of the Elephant

In the year 570 CE, Abrahah, the king of Ethiopia marched with his huge army towards Makkah to destroy the Kabah. His army had a war elephant. However, as the army came to Makkah, the elephant refused to enter into the vicinity of the Kabah and, instead, knelt down before it. Abrahah had to retreat, as his army was pelted with stones by birds.

The Prophet Muhammad’s father Abdullah died before he was born. His mother Aminah died when he was only six years old. He was adopted by his grandfather Abd al-Muttalib, who was the head of the Quraysh tribe, the guardians of the Kabah which was situated in Makkah. It was he who gave him the name ‘Muhammad,’ which means ‘worthy of praise.’ After the death of Abd al-Muttalib two years later, his uncle Abu Talib took care of him.

As the Prophet Muhammad grew up, people came to love and trust him for his gentle nature and truthful ways. Those who came close to him grew to love him. For his truthful and trustworthy nature he was known as as-Sadiq (the truthful one) and al-Amin (one you can trust).

Under the guidance of Abu Talib, the Prophet Muhammad became a merchant and soon acquired a reputation for honesty and hard work. A rich widow Khadijah employed him to trade her goods in Syria.

Impressed by his work and manners, Khadijah asked the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ to marry her. The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ agreed. It was a happy marriage and they had six children.

Many incidents in the Prophet's life at this time demonstrated his kindness. There was an old woman who hated the Prophet and would throw rubbish at him whenever he passed by her house. One day the woman fell ill. The Prophet went to her house to enquire about her. The old woman realized what a good-natured man the Prophet was. This shows that we should not bear ill-will even towards those who hurt us.

The Prophet also emerged as someone who could solve disputes to the satisfaction of everyone. One day, when he was thirty-five years old, the Kabah was destroyed in a fire. The four chief clans of Makkah rebuilt it. When it was time to put back the Black Stone first laid by the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ, a dispute arose. Each of the four clans wanted to have the honour of putting the stone back.

The Prophet solved the dispute. He placed the sacred stone at the centre of a robe and asked the elders of the four clans to lift the four corners of the robe and carry the stone to the site. Then the Prophet himself put the Black Stone in its proper place. Thus the problem solved. This demonstrated his ability to lead men and show them the way.

Marriage to Khadijah had given the Prophet the option to lead a comfortable life. But he sought the truth rather than wealth.

The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ never worshipped idols and his heart always sought the Supreme God. There were many questions in his mind. What was man’s purpose in life? Who was the Creator of all? Why did the people worship the idols whom they themselves had created. What did the Creator want of man? He wondered about the creation of the universe. He would often go to the cave of Hira in Mount al-Nur to meditate. On each occasion he would pass several days there in seclusion, seeking the eternal truth.

!Image of a mountain

When he was forty, he went to the cave of Hira as usual to spend the month of Ramadan in seclusion.

It was here that the Prophet had an extraordinary experience.

One night, now known as the Laylat al-Qadr or ‘the Night of Power and Excellence,’ the angel Jibril appeared before him with a message from Allah. The angel Jibril said, ‘Read!’
The Prophet said, ‘I don’t know how to read.’

Then the angel Jibril pressed the Prophet close to him for a while and then released him. Then again he said, ‘Read!’ At this, the Prophet again answered, “I don’t know how to read.” Jibril again pressed the Prophet close to him, and after releasing him, asked him to read. The Prophet repeated the same answer, “I don’t know how to read.” For the third time the angel Jibril pressed the Prophet close to him and said the following words:

Read, in the name of your Lord, who created, created man from a clot of blood. Read! And your Lord is the Most Generous who taught man by the pen, taught him what he did not know. (Surah al-Alaq, 96:1-5)

These were the first revealed words of the Quran.

This time the Prophet repeated the words.

The angel Jibril went away.

The experience left the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ confused and afraid. He thought: Who was the visitor? How did he come? What did his words mean?
In a terrified state the Prophet went back home and narrated the incident to his wife Khadijah. Khadijah comforted him with these words: “Never! By Allah, Allah will never disgrace you. You keep up good relations with your kith and kin, help the poor and destitute, serve your guests generously and assist the deserving among those afflicted by calamity.”

Then Khadijah took him to her cousin Waraqah ibn Nawfal, and described the incident to him. Waraqah was a scholar of that time. He had a vast knowledge of revealed books. After listening to the incident Waraqah said that the angel was Jibril, who was sent to the previous prophets like Musa, Isa, etc. And Waraqah foretold that he would become a messenger of Allah, and he would be treated with hostility by his tribesmen. After a few days Waraqah died but his words came true. Allah made Muhammad ﷺ His Prophet. The divine inspiration given by the angel Jibril is known as wahi, or revelation. After the revelation of the cave of Hira, Allah kept on revealing His messages to the Prophet at different times and in different situations, though there was a pause of about two years after the first revelation.

Chapter 6  Festivals in Islam

Muslims celebrate two major festivals: Eid al-Fitr and Eid al-Adha. Eid al-Fitr is celebrated on the first day of the month of Shawwal. And Eid al-Adha falls on the 10th day of Dhu’l Hijjah.

In the above paragraph you read two new names of months, i.e., Ramadan and Dhu’l Hijjah. You must be surprised that these names do not appear in the English calendar. No, these are months of the Islamic calendar, which is different from the English calendar. Read about the Islamic calendar at the end of this book.

Eid al-Fitr

The most important aspect of Eid al-Fitr is that it brings a joyful moment among the Muslims after the month-long fastings of Ramadan. Before any discussion on Eid al-Fitr, it is better to know about Ramadan which is closely linked with this festival.

Ramadan

Ramadan is the ninth month of the Islamic calendar.

The twenty-seventh night of Ramadan is very important. It was on this night that the first revelation of the Quran was made to the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ. It is known as Laylat al-Qadr, or the Night of Power.
All Muslims fast during the month of Ramadan. This means that they do not eat or drink anything from sunrise to sunset. You have already read in Chapter 2 that this fast is called sawm and is one of the five pillars of Islam.

In order to observe the fast, Muslims wake up early before dawn and eat a small meal. This meal is called suhur.

For the rest of the day they refrain from all kinds of food and drink. After sunset they break the fast with a light meal called iftar.

Ramadan is a month of blessing and forgiveness. In this month people get rid of their bad habits. They remember the poor and the hungry and try to share what they have with others less fortunate.

It is also a time to spend time with family and friends.

Eid al-Fitr: Sighting of the new moon of the month of Shawwal ends the fasting of Ramadan. The next day is the first day of Shawwal and the day of celebrating Eid al-Fitr. A special prayer of two rakahs wajib is offered by Muslims in a huge congregation. This prayer is offered in an open place generally outside the village or town. When there is no open place to do so, the prayer is offered in the congregational mosques. After the prayer, the khutbah or sermon is given by the Imam (the leader of the prayer). Then, after listening to the khutbah, people share their joy with each other.

To celebrate the joy of this day, Muslims dress themselves up in new clothes and use perfumes. People send gifts to their relatives, friends and neighbours. Muslims exchange the happiness of the day among themselves and say Eid Mubarak to each other, which means ‘have a blessed Eid.’

Eid al-Adha

Eid al-Adha is celebrated in the same way as Eid al-Fitr. But the special feature of Eid al-Adha is the hajj and the animal sacrifice. As we studied in Chapter 2, those who are able to undertake the hajj (pilgrimage), go on their hajj to the Kabah on this occasion. The performers of hajj are called haji.

Sacrifice of an Animal

The hajis sacrifice an animal during their hajj. However, those who do not perform hajj, also sacrifice animals on this day, if their means allow them.

Eid al-Adha is based on the concept of sacrifice. The sacrifice is made in memory of the great sacrifice made by the Prophet Ibrahim (ﷺ).
The Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ was asked by Allah in a dream to sacrifice his little son, Ismail ﷺ. When Ismail ﷺ heard from his father about the command of Allah he agreed to be sacrificed for the cause of Allah without any hesitation. In the morning the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ walked with his son Ismail ﷺ towards Mina to make the sacrifice. On the way Satan tempted him to disobey Allah. But being strong of faith in Allah, the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ hurled stones to drive Satan away. Reaching the place of sacrifice, the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ laid his son Ismail ﷺ down on the ground. Allah was very pleased with the selfless devotion of Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ. No sooner did the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ attempt to sacrifice his son for the cause of Allah than Allah in His abundant mercy, miraculously placed a ram in place of Ismail ﷺ and saved the innocent and beloved child of the Prophet Ibrahim ﷺ.

Thus the sacrifice of Eid al-Adha reminds us of our duty to submit to Allah’s will at all times and at whatever the cost. The animal sacrifice is made for Allah alone and the meat is divided into three portions. One is kept for the family; the second is given to relatives, and the third portion to the poor and the needy.

Chapter 7  Morals and Manners in Islam

Islam places a lot of importance on good manners and morals. As true believers we must at all times behave well and in a manner acceptable to Allah. The Prophet himself says in a hadith: ‘I have been sent to complete the good manners.’ Good manners perfect our personality and make our lives peaceful.

When Allah creates us, He creates us with a good nature. Then our moral character changes according to our education and society. Islam helps a man to build a good character. It is necessary for us to behave with good manners and avoid bad ones.

Let us look at some of the good manners and behaviour that we should exhibit in dealing with the various people we meet in daily life.

With Parents

Parents are the people closest to us. When we were born we found ourselves in their arms. They have sacrificed a lot for our well-being. Allah says in the Quran to be kind to parents. To show respect to parents, we should practise the following:
We should be kind to our parents and show them due respect.

We should take care of them.

We should talk to them politely.

We should not be rude to them or shout at them.

The Quran states:

“Your Lord has decreed that you worship none but Him, and that you show kindness to your parents. If either or both of them attain old age, show them no sign of impatience, nor rebuke them; but speak to them kind words. Treat them with humility and tenderness and say: ‘My Lord! Have mercy on them both as they did care for me when I was little.’” (Surah al-Isra, 17:23-24)

The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ mentioned that disobeying parents is one of the three major sins.

With Teachers

After being with our parents we spend a large part of the day with teachers. They help us learn and provide us with knowledge. It is the duty of every Muslim to obey his teachers and follow their advice.
With Neighbours

Islam stresses the duties towards our neighbours. The relationship with our neighbours determines what peace and comfort we have where we live. The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ said: ‘One who believes in Allah and in the Hereafter should respect his neighbours.’ Therefore,

- We should be helpful towards our neighbours.
- We should visit them when they are sick.
- We should be polite to them and not quarrel with them.
- We should not be jealous of them, but should celebrate their happiness.
- We should help them when they are in trouble.

With Friends

Friends play an important role in our life. The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ had very good friends who were called his sahabah or companions. They loved the Prophet and supported him and would even lay down their own lives and possessions for him.

The friends you have often affect the way you behave with others. A bad friend will only make you do things which will displease Allah, like being lazy or lying or not praying. So everyone must be very careful in choosing a friend.
The Prophet Muhammad ﷺ said: ‘A person is likely to follow the faith of his friend, so look whom you take as a friend.’

- We should make friends those who have good manners.
- We should help friends whenever they need help.
- We should not abuse friends.
- We should treat friends with good manners and share our knowledge with them.

Towards Fellow Muslims

All Muslims are brothers. We should be very careful how we behave with other Muslims. We must not have any hatred or jealousy for other Muslims. We should treat them with love and respect and not do anything that will hurt them. When we meet a Muslim we should always greet him or her with the following words:

\text{As-salamu alaykum wa rahmatullah}

This means: ‘May peace be upon you and the mercy of Allah.’

When one greets you with the above, reply as follows:

\text{Wa alaykum as-salam wa rahmatullahi wa barakatuh}

This means: ‘And peace be upon you and Allah’s mercy and blessings.’
Towards non-Muslims

All human beings are created by Allah, be they Muslims or non-Muslims. We live in society. Hence it is our duty to make our society peaceful and prosperous. In order to do so, we should be cooperative and helpful in all sorts of good activities, be they initiated by Muslims or non-Muslims. However, we must refrain from all sorts of evil activities. But in all good works we should help the non-Muslims.

- We should help the fellow non-Muslims when they need help.
- We should congratulate them on their achievements.
- We should sympathize them in their grief.

Chapter 8  Halal and Haram in Islam

Being our Creator Allah loves and cares for us. And He knows better what is good and what is bad for us. He has provided us with numerous foods on this earth. For our own good, He has permitted us to take pure and wholesome food. He has forbidden us some foods, so that we do not fall ill by taking these. If we take such forbidden food, we will incur Allah’s anger as well.

The food that Allah has permitted us to eat is called halal food. The word ‘halal’ means ‘lawful’ or ‘allowed’. The food that Allah has forbidden us to take is called haram food. The word ‘haram’ means ‘unlawful’ or ‘prohibited’. In all circumstances we must avoid the haram and take only halal food.

Halal foods help our body, mind and spirit to grow. Thus they make us healthy.

Some foods which are considered as halal are fruits, vegetables, rice, cereals, honey, milk, eggs, and fish.

Meat is halal for us only when the animal or bird has been killed while reciting the name of Allah. This is called zabihah.
Zabihah is a procedure of killing an animal or bird by cutting its throat along with the jugular veins and reciting Bismillah Allahu Akbar (In the name of Allah, Allah is Most Great) while cutting.

If an animal is not killed by the zabihah procedure, or if it has died on its own or has been killed by a wild animal, its meat is haram for Muslims. Apart from these, there are various animals and birds whose meat is forbidden for Muslims. For example, bear, eagle, dog, swine, owl, lion, monkey, vulture, crow, etc.

The words halal and haram are not restricted only to food. They also apply to other things such as earnings, spending, dressing, manners, marriage, and life and death.

One is said to earn in a haram way if he earns by theft, fraud, cheating or gambling, etc. Even if a man spends his haram earnings on good activities, his good deeds will be considered haram rather than halal.

Chapter 9  The First Man

The Creation of the Universe

A long time ago, there was no earth, no sky, no sun or moon, nothing and nothing anywhere, except Allah.

Allah decided to create a beautiful universe. He created the earth, the skies, the galaxies and planets, the moon and the sun, and thousands of stars. He gave the earth beautiful flowers and plants and many animals, birds, and fishes. He did all this simply by saying, ‘Be’.

The Creation of Man

After He had created the world and made it fit for life, He decided to create a human being. He collected all kinds of soil and mixed it like potter’s clay. Then He moulded it into the shape of a man and breathed His spirit into it.

In this way He gave life to the first man—father to all of us. Allah named him Adam. He gave Adam many gifts—the gifts of sight, smell, hearing, taste, and touch—and made him the first prophet.
When Allah told the angels about His intention to put Adam on earth, the angels were worried. They thought that man would commit errors and do evil. However, Allah had a greater purpose in creating Adam. He taught Adam the names of the righteous and pious souls who would inherit the earth. Allah told Adam to tell the names of these righteous and pious people to the angels.

When Adam told the names of these pious people, the angels realized Allah’s purpose in creating man and sending him to earth. Allah then ordered the angels to bow down to Adam. All of them bowed except Iblis, or Satan, who refused to bow to a man created out of clay. Iblis thus disobeyed Allah and incurred the curse of Allah till Judgement Day.

From the Gardens of Paradise to Earth

Allah also created the first woman, Hawwa (Eve), as a companion for Adam. He asked Adam and Hawwa to live in the beautiful gardens of Paradise and to eat its fruits. However, He warned them against approaching one particular tree and eating of its fruit.
Adam and Hawwa lived in the gardens of Paradise in peace and happiness. Seeing them thus honoured, Satan became jealous.

Satan approached them and convinced them that he was a sincere friend to them. He tempted them to eat from the forbidden tree, saying that it was the tree of eternal life. He said that if they ate from it they would never grow old, nor would they die.

Adam and Hawwa thought Satan was giving them sincere advice as a friend. They were thus tempted and ate from the forbidden tree. Thus they became wrongdoers and their shame became visible to them. They covered themselves with the leaves from the garden.

They realized that they had committed an error. Allah admonished them saying, ‘Did I not forbid you to approach the tree, and did I not warn you that Satan was your enemy.’ Adam and Hawwa begged Allah’s forgiveness. Allah forgave them but told them that since they had disobeyed Him, they would have to leave the gardens of Paradise and go down to earth.

This was how Adam and Hawwa became the first human beings to inhabit the earth. From them all human beings descended and scattered all over the world. Allah made Adam the first prophet to teach His message to human beings, and to guide them to the right path of Allah.

The story of the Prophet Adam teaches us that all of us are descendants from one father, Adam, who was created by Allah. As such, all of us are equal.

Chapter 10  A Rightly Guided Caliph: Abu Bakr

Abu Bakr remained a very close companion of the Prophet Muhammadﷺ right from boyhood.

He had a very clean and upright character. Besides, he was honest and truthful by nature.

He was a rich merchant with a very kind heart. He was never proud of his resources. He spent most of his wealth on freeing the poor and oppressed ones of their sufferings.

Abu Bakr firmly believed in the truthfulness of the Prophet. When the Prophet described to him about the revelation of cave Hira and of his being chosen as Messenger by Allah, Abu Bakr, without thinking over it, at once embraced Islam. And he was the first man to embrace Islam.

After accepting Islam, Abu Bakr proved to be a great help to the Prophet in the spread of Islam. Many of his friends responded to his call to join Islam, because they believed Abu Bakr to be a sincere and honest person, who could never invite them to accept false faith.

Besides spreading Islam along with the Prophet he strove to his utmost against the pagans of Makkah. Abu Jahl, one of the dire enemies of the Muslims, once attempted to strangle the Prophet while he was praying at the Kabah. Upon seeing this, Abu Bakr rushed to the spot and saved the Prophet.

Whenever he saw someone in trouble, his heart melted and he did his utmost to help the victim. During the persecution of the Makkans, the worst sufferers were the slaves who had accepted Islam. Bilal ibn Rabah, who had been severely tortured by his master Umayyah ibn Khalf, was released by Abu Bakr.

The Prophet was accompanied by Abu Bakr on his hijrah (migration) to Madinah. It was Abu Bakr who arranged camels and foodstuff for the journey.

Abu Bakr was a sincere follower of Islam. He showed his bravery in various battles fought for the cause of Islam.

The Tabuk expedition was undertaken under very difficult conditions. The Prophet asked people to give as much as they could for this expedition. This time, what Abu Bakr contributed, no one could outdo. He took all his money and household items and heaped them up before the Prophet.
“Have you left anything for your family?” asked the Prophet. Abu Bakr calmly replied, “Allah and His Messenger are enough for them.” Everyone was stunned at this service of Abu Bakr for the cause of Islam.

When the Prophet died, a huge crowd gathered at the mosque of the Prophet. Everyone was stunned by this news, which seemed unbelievable to them. They did not know what to do. When Umar arrived there, he was so overwhelmed with emotion that he drew his sword and said, “If anyone says that the Messenger of Allah is dead, I will cut off his head.”

Abu Bakr was away on business and was a few miles from that place. When he learned about the demise of the Prophet, he returned immediately and found the crowd in a great turmoil. He addressed the grief-stricken public: “O people! If anyone among you worshipped Muhammad, let him know that Muhammad is dead. But those who worship Allah, let them know that he is alive and will never die. Let all of us recall the words of the Quran:

Muhammad is only a Messenger of Allah. There have been Messengers before him. What, will you turn back from Islam, if he dies or is killed?”
(Surah Al Imran, 3:144)

All the doubts of the people were magically swept away by these words of Abu Bakr. The verse of the Quran recited by him encouraged people to face the truth.

After the demise of the Prophet the question of a caliph (Arabic khalifah or governor of an Islamic State) soon arose.

Everyone supported Abu Bakr to become the caliph. Thus Abu Bakr became the first caliph of Islam. He is the first among the khulafa ar-rashidun (the rightly guided caliphs), the others being Umar ibn al-Khattab, Uthman ibn Affan, and Ali ibn Abi Talib.

After the death of the Prophet many rebels arose in and around Madinah. Some refused to pay the zakah, while others declared themselves prophets to gain fame and wealth. The hypocrites, who outwardly made a show of Islam but were inwardly hostile to Muslims, supported these rebels. There were even some who thought that Islam would come to an end after the death of the Prophet.

In this critical situation Abu Bakr with his small band of men and their commanders fought against all rebels and imposters and finally overpowered all the rebellious enemies of Islam. This success was solely due to his firm faith in Allah and His Prophet.

In the year 13 A.H. Abu Bakr had a severe fever which proved fatal. All treatment to bring down the fever failed. Keeping in view his nearing death, Abu Bakr nominated Umar ibn al-Khattab to be the next caliph. He remembered the indiscipline which started after the death of the Prophet, and thought it might occur after his own death also. Before nominating Umar, he consulted other fellow Muslims and everyone agreed to his choice.

The fever of Abu Bakr lasted for two weeks and on the 7th day of Jumada ath-Thaniyyah he took his last breath.

On his deathbed he told his daughter Aishah not to use a new cloth for wrapping up his dead body, and that the old and worn cloth which he was wearing then should be washed for the purpose.

The second thing he willed on his deathbed was to sell his land after his death and give all the money to the Public Treasury in order to pay back the money he had received as salary during his caliphate.

Abu Bakr was buried next to the grave of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ in Madinah.

During his caliphate of two years, three months and ten days, Abu Bakr was able to do great things for Islam.

Surah al-‘Asr

I swear by the declining day that loss shall be the lot of man, except for those who have faith and do good works; who exhort each other to justice and to fortitude.

Surah al-Humazah
THE SLANDERER

In the Name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful.

Woe to every backbiting slanderer who amasses riches and sedulously hoards them, thinking his wealth will render him immortal! By no means! He shall be flung into the Destroying Flame.

Surah al-Fil

THE ELEPHANT

Surah Quraysh

QURAYSH

In the Name of Allah, the Compassionate, the Merciful.

For the protection of Quraysh: their protection in their summer and winter journeyings. Therefore, let them worship the Lord of this House, who fed them in the days of famine and shielded them from all peril.
The Islamic Calendar

The Islamic calendar is called the Hijri calendar, because it was started from the hijrah of the Prophet.

The Islamic calendar is a lunar calendar. Unlike the regular calendar, called the solar or Gregorian calendar, which follows the cycles of the sun, the Islamic calendar follows the cycles of the moon.

A lunar month starts when the new moon is sighted. A lunar month is about 29 or 30 days long and as such a lunar year is 11 days shorter than the solar year.

The Islamic calendar starts from the month of Muharram and ends with the month of Dhu’l Hijjah.

The names of the months of the Islamic calendar are as listed below.

1. Muharram
2. Safar
3. Rabi al-Awwal
4. Rabi ath-Thani
5. Jumada al-Ula
6. Jumada ath-Thaniyyah
7. Rajab
8. Shaban
9. Ramadan
10. Shawwal
11. Dhu’l Qada
12. Dhu’l Hijjah

When a Hijri year is mentioned, it is written with AH, for example, 1432 AH. Here AH means After Hijrah.
